REPORT ON THE SKANDERBORG PROJECT

Professor Helmuth Nyborg's research project on sex-related differences in general intelligence (the so-called Skanderborg project) has recently been the subject of public concern and debate, and consequently the Faculty of Social Sciences has decided to release a report on this project worked out by an Expert Committee. The committee members, commissioned by the dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences, were Professor Jan-Eric Gustafsson (Göteborg University), Professor Jens Ledet Jensen (University of Aarhus) and Professor Niels Keiding (University of Copenhagen). The Terms of Reference for the work of this committee is also made publicly available.

Svend Hylleberg
Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences
